We have a strong reputation for recovering compensation against professionals, including negligence, breach of contract, breach of fiduciary duty, and breach of trust.

From our experience of recovering compensation, we understand how devastating it can be to be let down by someone in whom you've put your trust. It is natural to think that someone who is offering professional services, such as an accountant, chartered surveyor or even solicitor, should be both diligent, proficient and above all, honest in what they do and the services they provide.

When a professional falls below the necessary standard of service due to negligence, breach of contract or trust, and as a result you suffer financial damage we can advise and recover damages for you.

Recovering Compensation

Curtis Parkinson's partner and solicitor, Roger Pitts, has over 25 years of advising major public limited companies, building societies and individuals on professional negligence and in the process recovering millions of pounds. As a result, Roger's experience in this area is exceptional.

If you feel that you have suffered due to professional negligence speak to our team.
